the test involves use of audio waves to create images of the heart, which can help physicians detect a defect characteristic of PDA.

It’s not that the, say, identifiable patient piece is difficult because of the anonymity of the internet, for example.